Journey Description

Journey Description

■ By car:

From southern direction:

Follow the A143 to the »Halle-Neustadt/Halle-Zentrum« exit. Then drive approx. 8 km on B80 in the direction of Halle until you reach Rennbahnkreuz. At the city entrance, use the left lane to drive straight ahead from B80 in the direction of Kröllwitz/Universität. Follow this road until the next traffic light intersection.

from northern direction (A9, A14 motorways) :

(Leave the A9 at the »Halle« exit, the A14 at the »Halle-Peißen« exit, follow the signs for »Zentrum« and »Halle-Neustadt/Eisleben« (Riebeckplatz), leave the elevated highway after the Saale bridge at the »Gimritzer Damm« exit and follow the signs for »Magdeburg/Klinikum, Kröllwitz/Universität« (Weinbergweg) to the next traffic light intersection.

from both directions continuing to Otto-Eißfeldt-Straße 12:

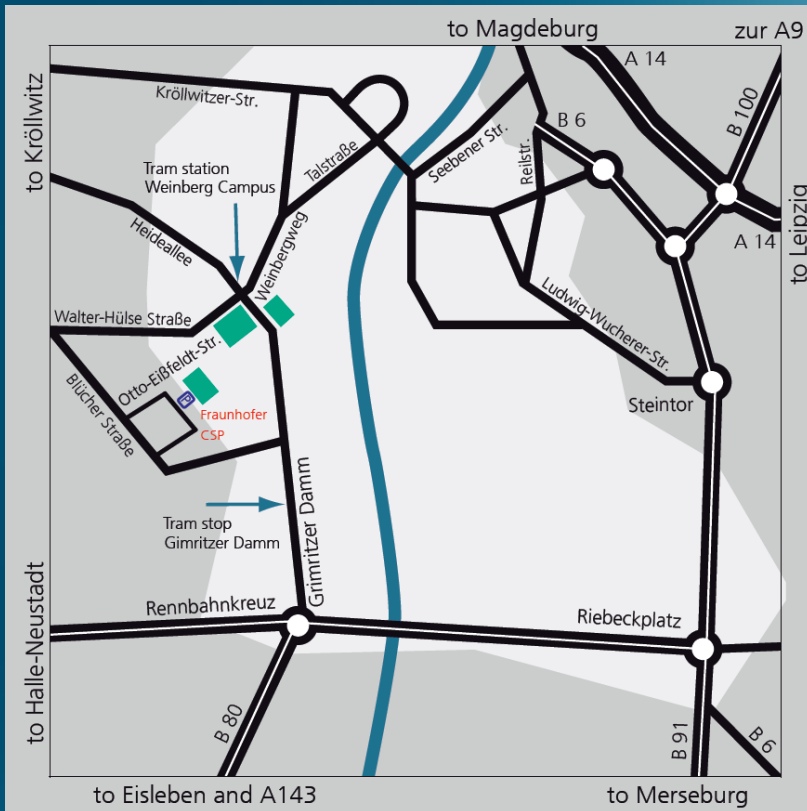

At the intersection turn left into Blücherstraße, in the direction of »TGZ III /Finanzamt« and follow the route for approx. 600 m. Finally, turn right onto Otto-Eißfeldt-Straße. The Fraunhofer Center for Silicon Photovoltaics CSP is on the right-hand side.

■ By train:

By train to Halle (Saale) railway station. From the »Hauptbahnhof Halle (Saale)« stop, take tram lines 4 or 5 to Kröllwitz, get off at the »Weinberg Campus« stop (the stop before that is called »Gimritzer Damm«). Travel time around 20 minutes. Continue on foot along Walter-Hülse-Straße, turn left into Heinrich-Damerow-Straße, then left into Erich-Neuß-Weg. Keep to the right of the Wacker Biotech building and follow the path to the main entrance of the institute building (approx. 8 min).

■ By plane:

From the airport Halle/Leipzig take the train S5/S5x (10 min) to the main station Halle (Saale) or a taxi (50 min) to Halle. Continue as described under by train.
